CLASSROOM CORNER

“Continue in what you have learned and have firmly believed.”
2 Timothy 3:14

Greetings from First Grade and welcome to the Fourth Marking Period! It's hard to believe that we are just weeks away from the end of the school year! How is that even possible? In reading, we have learned that a biography is an informational text written by someone else, telling the true story of a real person's life. We have read and studied biographies about Jackie Robinson and Frida Kahlo. We even wrote biographies about our classmates, and attempted our very own Frida-inspired self-portrait. The paintings are currently on display in our classroom.

In math, we just started a new chapter on measurements. In science, we are learning the phases of the moon and still reeling over the solar eclipse. Looking ahead, there are still many exciting things planned. We are busy rehearsing for our last Chapel of the year, and the children are looking forward to leading once again. It's also been quite thrilling to have the opportunity to head back outside during recess. We also planted a little “indoor garden,” and we are anxiously awaiting for it to sprout. As we wind down, I encourage the kiddos to finish strong. Keep up the fabulous work First Grade!

Sincerely,
Mrs. Laura Sage
First Grade Teacher
