CLASSROOM CORNER

Loving Learning

When I think of learning I am reminded of the verse in Proverbs 1:7 where it says; "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge, but fools despise wisdom and discipline." Our class has been working very hard this year to gain knowledge not just in math, science, and reading, but in the Lord – and it shows! I wish that you could pop in and watch the second graders as they help each other, encourage each other, struggle, yet not give up. Their eyes light up when they "get it." More importantly when they sing to the Lord, or listen during Bible class, ask questions, and pray together their attitudes are more positive, their fears and frustrations less. It blesses me to watch them and to have the privilege to be their teacher. It's my prayer that they will keep the Lord first in their lives and to remember to always be a learner, especially about the Lord.

In our studies the students completed their first research paper! We learned about polar bears, did a craft, watched videos, looked online, read books, and gathered a lot of information. They did an excellent job turning that information into paragraphs. In Bible we are learning about the beginning of the Lord's ministry, and what it means to be a disciple of Christ. We just completed a chapter in math on time and temperature and will soon begin fractions. We are continuing to build our reading vocabulary and fluency. We are learning about animal fantasies and writing our own in creative writing. In grammar we have been working with adjectives and adverbs. The students are mastering their cursive handwriting as we work on capital letters and their names. We have been studying forces in science and are beginning a unit on simple machines. And in social studies we completed a unit on the colonies and are beginning a unit on citizenship and what it means to be a responsible citizen. We wrote letters to President Biden letting him know that we are praying for him.

I often hear from the second graders, "It's Friday already?" Our weeks are flying by and every day brings something new to learn. May we all never stop being a learner. The Lord has so much in store for us, so much to learn no matter our age. It starts with the Him, our beginning of knowledge, His Word, and what He wants for our lives.
